Site:	Built in 1939, the stylish brick façade building was originally a residential apartment owned by famed silent film star Lillian Gish. Maison 140's classic exterior, complete with dormers, potted topiaries and signature red-lacquered doors, serves as a warm welcome from the busy city just around the corner.

Guestrooms:

The newly refurbished 44 guest accommodations feature Parisian-inspired décor with a warm and inviting palette of persimmon and kumquat by acclaimed designer Kelly Wearstler and feature silk moiré wallcoverings, alabaster bedside lamps, custom fluted brass curtain hardware, tufted headboards and ruched bed frames. All rooms feature hand embroidered curtain trim and a female torso sculpture designed by Kelly Wearstler, with hand tufted European carpets and Chinoiserie screens to shape the bathing areas. Bathrooms are finished in black and white marble floors with chrome hardware and rain-style showerheads. The three room types – Parisian Queen, Parisian King and Mandarin King – all include gilded arm chairs and lamps designed by Wearstler that are modeled after vintage styles the designer found in Paris as well as stone veneer desks.
